Summary

The National Citizen Survey™ (The NCS™) is a collaborative effort between National Research Center, Inc. (NRC) and the International City/County Management Association (ICMA). The survey and its administration are standardized to assure high quality research methods and directly comparable results across The NCS communities. This report discusses differences in opinion of survey respondents by City Ward.

Responses in the following tables show only the proportion of respondents giving a certain answer; for example, the percent of respondents who rated the quality of life as “excellent” or “good,” or the percent of respondents who attended a public meeting more than once a month. ANOVA and chi-square tests of significance were applied to these comparisons of survey questions. A “p-value” of 0.05 or less indicates that there is less than a 5% probability that differences observed between Wards are due to chance; or in other words, a greater than 95% probability that the differences observed are “real.” Where differences were statistically significant, they have been shaded grey.

The margin of error for this report is generally no greater than plus or minus four percentage points around any given percent reported for the entire sample (780 completed surveys). For each Ward (Wards 1, 2, 3, and 4), the margin of error rises to approximately plus or minus seven percentage points since sample sizes were approximately 183 for Ward 1, 201 for Ward 2, 209 for Ward 3 and 187 for Ward 4. Notable differences between Wards included the following:

- While most residents gave positive ratings to the City of Dublin for Education and Enrichment, individuals from Ward 2 were more likely to give lower ratings to K-12 education, adult educational opportunities and cultural/arts/music activities than residents from Wards 1, 3 and 4.
- Dublin residents living in Wards 1 and 3 of the City tended to give lower ratings for the aspects of Mobility in Community Characteristics, including ease of public parking as well as the ease of travel by car, public transportation and walking in Dublin than other respondents.
- A majority of Dublin residents gave excellent or good scores to the various aspects of Governance in general; however, residents from Ward 3 were less likely to give positive ratings to the overall direction that Dublin is taking, the overall confidence in the Dublin government and the customer service provided by City employees compared to citizens from other areas.
- Respondents from the 4th Ward gave higher rankings to the sense of community in Dublin and they were more likely to report they would remain in the City for the next five years, but less likely to have contacted the City of Dublin for help or information.
- Nearly all residents of Dublin responded that they recycled at home with Wards 3 and 4 reporting the highest levels at 97% and 96% respectively. A majority of respondents also stated that they had made efforts to make their homes more energy efficient with residents in Wards 1, 2, and 3 more likely to participate in this activity than individuals living in Ward 4.
- Citizens who reside in Ward 2 and 4 of Dublin responded that they were less likely to participate in Community Engagement measures, such as having campaigned or advocated for an issue, cause or candidate, participated in a club and attended a local meeting than other residents, but those in Ward 4 were more likely to have done a favor for a neighbor than their counterparts.
