

Dublink Services

Dublink Services is an enterprise business model that leverages resources resulting in lower costs with agreed upon customer-service levels.

The City of Dublin fosters a unique entrepreneurial business community that provides shared services across many platforms for service delivery. The small-to-medium sized business community provides a myriad of IT and other related products and services. The Dublink 100Gb fiber network (in conjunction with Metro Data Center's fully redundant data center) establishes local and global network, and fully managed infrastructure that provides the vehicle to connect these shared services direct to the Dublin marketplace. Dublink's ultra-high speed and ultra-low latency network connectivity is capable of delivering business traffic at the speed of light and provides a superior choice of service providers and global carrier networks.

Businesses may contract directly with shared service providers in and around the Dublin Entrepreneurial Center as they consult for various elements of design, structure, support or execution of key products and services. These may include co-location, cloud infrastructure, backup and recovery, managed services, virtual desktop, network support services, and application design and development. A host of other Dublink Services may also be employed, such as marketing, web development, accounting, auditing, consulting, phone, printing, video services and more.

Dublin Entrepreneurial Center

The award-winning Dublin Entrepreneurial Center (DEC) began as a partnership between the City of Dublin and its public and private industry partners. The DEC provides services and promote an environment to increase deal flow for potential entrepreneurial and technology development resulting in more new businesses and job creation in Dublin and the surrounding area.

"The DEC community is comprised of over 150 businesses, many working together to achieve greater individual success. We offer complimentary education and networking opportunities to local entrepreneurs on a regular basis."
