Smart911 Now Available in Dublin

Dublin residents now have the opportunity to sign up for a new emergency communications tool, Smart911. This tool will provide communications technicians at the Northwest Regional Emergency Communications Center (NRECC) with vital information about participating residents to share with first responders.

All of the residents that NRECC provides emergency communications services for in the cities of Dublin, Hilliard, Upper Arlington, and Washington Township and Norwich Township, can easily create their secure "Safety Profile" at www.smart911.com. The safety profile will automatically display to emergency communications technicians when a 9-1-1 call is placed from a phone number associated with a Smart911 profile.

This technology helps provides first responders with vital information that can help improve incident outcomes. Now, police can have immediate access to a photo of a missing person in seconds rather than minutes or hours. Fire crews can arrive at the scene of a fire knowing how many people live in a residence and the location of bedrooms and EMS teams can have detailed information about a person's allergies or prescriptions they're taking. For more information go to <https://dublinohiousa.gov/living/smart-911/>

Use of Force

Use of force reports are used to document bodily force by means of a defensive tactic or technique or any other bodily force to overcome resistive tension. Minor hand to hand control techniques, such as handcuffing, physically touching, or gripping to overcome minor resistive tension, shall be reported on an incident report or narrative of the arrest form. Use of force reports are also used to document the use of a less lethal and/or lethal weapon (in the course of a use of force). Any bodily force, use of a less lethal weapon, or use of a lethal weapon resulting in an injury must be reported on a use of force report.

Use of Force Incidents

| Use of Force           | 2017 | 2018 | 2019 |
|------------------------|------|------|------|
| Use of Force Incidents | 13   | 9    | 18   |
| Use of Force Reports   | 18   | 14   | 32   |

In 2019, eighteen (18) use of force incidents occurred that resulted in thirty-two (32) use of force reports being filed. It should be noted that more reports were filed than total number of incidents due to more than one officer using force out of a single incident in some, but not all cases. The number of use of force incidents has fluctuated over the past three years.

Injuries Resulting from Use of Force (based on incidents)

| Use of Force Injuries | 2017 | 2018 | 2019 |
|-----------------------|------|------|------|
| Officer Injured       | 6    | 1    | 4    |
| Suspect Injured       | 7    | 3    | 11   |

In 2019, there were four (4) use of force incident that resulted in an injury to an officer. In 2019, there were eleven (11) use of force incidents that resulted in injuries to suspects. A review of the injuries indicated that the injuries were generally minor in nature. It should be noted that in some cases, these injuries could have been sustained by the suspect prior to the contact with the officer(s). Over the past three years, the number of incidents where the officer and/or the suspect was injured has fluctuated with as few as one (1) injury to as many as eleven (11) injuries. No trends or patterns were detected in injuries to any persons, including employees, out of the eighteen (18) use of force incidents.

Reasons for the Use of Force (Incidents)

| Reasons for Use of Force           | 2017 | 2018 | 2019 |
|------------------------------------|------|------|------|
| Necessary to Effect Arrest         | 12   | 7    | 14   |
| Necessary to Defend Officer/Person | 6    | 3    | 3    |
| Other                              | 10   | 3    | 6    |

In 2019, the most common reasons for the use of force were: 1) Necessary to Effect an arrest, 2) Other Mission-Specific Seizure, and 3) Necessary to Defend Officer/Person. Over the past three years, "Necessary to Effect Arrest" was the most common reason for use of force in 2017, 2018 and 2019. In some cases, the numbers may not match up due to some reports having more than one description for the reason for use of force or none being marked on the report.

Officer's Response – Use of Force Incidents

| Officer's Response                        | 2017 | 2018 | 2019 |
|---|------|------|------|
| Firearm/Other Deadly Force                | 0    | 0    | 0    |

| Officer Presence                          | 13   | 9    | 18   |

In 2019, the most common officer responses to use of force incidents included: 1) Officer Presence (18 incidents), 2) Verbal or Physical Commands (17 incidents), and 3) Takedowns (16 incidents). Officer Presence and Verbal or Physical Commands and Takedowns have been in the top three officer's responses to use of force incidents in 2017 through 2019. In some cases, the numbers may not match up due to some reports having more than one officer response or none being marked on the report. It should be noted that 16 of the 18 use of force incidents in 2019 involved a "takedown".

Impact on Findings on Policies, Practices, Equipment, and Training

In 2019, no significant findings were discovered in relation to policies, practices, equipment, and training. The Use of Force form was amended in 2019 so as to better capture the gender and race of the person whom force was used against (sometime post March 1, 2019).

It is recommended that the Dublin Police Department continue its defensive tactics training with sworn personnel on an annual basis as part of the in-service training program. Since sixteen (16) of the eighteen (18) use of force incidents involved the "takedown" technique, it is recommended that the department's defensive tactics instructors evaluate those takedowns to determine if any additional training needs are necessary or should be considered.

Use of Force Conclusion

In reviewing the thirty-two (32) use of force reports out of the eighteen (18) use of force incidents that occurred in 2019, it was determined that all policies regarding the use of force were followed. All eighteen (18) use of force incidents were correctly reported, investigated, and reviewed by the chain of command. All use of force incidents were classified as force reasonable and consistent with policy. It should be noted that some counseling and/or disciplinary action was administered in three of these incidents (see 19-0111, 19-0124, and 19-0231).

Use of force training (Training Bulletin 2019-02) was conducted with all sworn personnel in 2019 as part of the police department's annual mandatory training cycle. Based on this analysis, use of force training will continue to be a part of the police department's annual mandatory in-service training for sworn personnel.

The following should be reviewed by the executive command staff, Defensive Tactics Supervisor and instructors to determine if any further training should be developed and/or implemented:

- From the perspective of individual officer use of force techniques, the "takedown" was the most often used technique over the past three years with 34 out of 40 (85%) use of force incidents involving a takedown technique. The next most common technique was assistance from other officers (28 out of 40 incidents or 70%).
- Another factor for consideration was the "distance from subject". This special circumstance occurred in ten (10) use of force incidents over the past three years.
- In all eighteen (18) use of force incidents, the suspect was suspected to be under: mental distress and/or alcohol and/or drugs, and/or some other issue.
- In fourteen (14) out of the eighteen (18) use of force incidents, either the suspect or an officer was injured. It should be noted that all of the injuries reported, were classified as minor in nature.

Overall, based on this analysis of use of force, no patterns or trends were identified that would require any further training needs (other than the previously suggested bullet points) or policy modifications.
